

ALUMNI TEACHERS SPEAK ON COMING BACK TO SLS, PUNE:

I really enjoyed being at Symbiosis as a student, so coming back to Pune naturally meant coming back to Symbiosis. The method of teaching today is not the same as before. The way it is taught, the library, the resources available has changed for the better, although even at that time Symbiosis was better because of the cosmopolitan atmosphere in the college.

Dr. Bindu Ronald.

Erasmus Mundus Scholar, co-author of Manual of Maharashtra Laws and Bombay Stamp Act, part of UNDP, ITC and Tea Board of India sponsored projects.

There are many changes since my days as a student in comparison to now. The technology employed, the teaching methods made use of, the student attitude (has changed for the better).

Prof. Yuvraj Patil

Published maximum number of papers, popular professor.

The most memorable moment in Symbiosis was when I introduced myself in front of the class. I had never done this before since there never was an opportunity. This gave me confidence, one of the most valuable traits I picked up as a student here.

Prof. Ashish Deshpande

Awarded "The Most Enthusiastic Faculty" award from SLS, Pune in 2011.

I have always wanted to teach. I came to SLS because of the institutional set up. I did both my LLB and LLM here. Because of this, I didn't find it difficult to settle in at all and was comfortable in the environment provided here.

Prof. Abhijeet Vasmatkar

Awarded 'Chancellor's Gold Medal' for standing first in LL.M. and 'Nani Palkhiwala Gold Medal' for academic excellence, in-charge of the Placement Cell. ICCR Chair Professor at Leibniz university.

The biggest change I have observed since my stint here as a student is that there was no TNG (Term Not Granted) and the new system of internal exam system along with the external exams.

I believe that coming back to your alma mater is the best you can do.

Prof. Kshika Garg

Youngest teacher, immense contribution to the Placement Cell.
